A variety of fresh-squeezed lemonades were available under the outdoor bandstand. Pink and green florals consisting of peonies and hydrangea were placed in rustic wire vases and adorned with fresh moss, while fern garlands hang overhead. Jack the puppy decides to check it all out for himself.

THIS PAGE: Edward can't get enough of Sugaree Baking Company's made-from-scratch "Berries of the Forest" pie! OPPOSITE: More than 400 orange Circus and Gold Strike roses were used to create each sphere lining the ceremony aisle—each perched upon a pedestal.

OPPOSITE: The farm's entry gate is adorned with a fresh pink and green floral wreath consisting of peonies, hydrangea and roses. A "Hen Party" ladies luncheon table set with heirloom china and silverware. Each guest will be greeted with a menu and an assorted fresh egg basket at their place setting. The floral décor theme continues with vases of peonies, roses, hydrangea and ferns.

THIS PAGE: Coco and Edward take their own time out with "Fudge" the rooster up in the barn's loft. OPPOSITE: The head table, located in the rock garden, is decorated with a variety of purple flowers and succulents tucked under glass "bells." A lunch plate from Butler's Pantry is pre-set at each place setting along with a fresh pear. The rustic dessert table, located in the barn, is adorned with sunflowers and blackboard signs identifying each variety of pie available. Made-from-scratch pies from Sugaree Baking Company. Whoopie pies from Butler's Panty.

Farm dwellers, “Pierre” and “Pascal” call it a day with a breathtaking view of the Missouri River.
